FREE SAFETY TRAINING

The Youngstown Neighborhood Development Corporation, Youngstown Police Department, Youngstown State University and the City of Youngstown will hold a community training on CPTED (Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design) at Homestead Park in which participants will learn about improving safety through CPTED principles, complete an assessment of the park itself, and develop a plan to make the park safer and more desirable. A small amount of funding will be available to make improvements to the park based on participants' recommendations. The training is free and anyone is welcome to attend. It is strongly recommended that attendees arrive at 9am and stay for the duration of the training.
